Existing Regulations and Practices on Access to Theses

1. Students deposit a finalized thesis in electronic format, in the University Libraries for open access. The electronic format and this completed form should be submitted at the same time.
2. The contents of the submitted electronic thesis must be the same as in the printed thesis. If the thesis contains reproductions of copyrighted images without receiving permission from the copyright holder, the student may, with advice from his/her supervisor, remove all copyrighted reproductions from the electronic thesis. A short description of these removed items must be appended to this form.
3. The University has the non-exclusive right to publish the full electronic thesis in open access. Full attribution will be given to the author.
4. Students with specific reasons to restrict access to their thesis may discuss this with their supervisor who may recommend to their Faculty Board that access be restricted to a maximum of five years. If granted, the Faculty Board is requested to send a letter to the Libraries authorizing this restriction. When an application for restricted access to is being considered, the thesis will be restricted from access temporarily until a decision has been made on the application. If the student's request is denied, the electronic thesis will be made available online in open access.

I verify that I have read and agreed to the above regulations and practices.
