THE UNIVERSITY OF HONG KONG

FOR DEGREES OTHER THAN MPHIL & PHD, SUBMISSION FORM FOR LIBRARIES

To fulfill the mission of the University in disseminating knowledge; to promote its academic standing and contribute to the international community of scholars as a whole; and to provide exposure and recognition to the theses of HKU students, the University's existing policy is one of granting open access to theses, unless there are acceptable grounds for restricting access.

Exi	sting Regulations and	Practices on Access to Theses
1.	Students deposit a finalized thesis in electronic format, in the University Libraries for open access. The electron format and this completed form should be submitted at the same time.
2.	The contents of the submitted electronic thesis must be the same as in the printed thesis. If the thesis contain reproductions of copyrighted images without receiving permission from the copyright holder, the student may, with advice from his/her supervisor, remove all copyrighted reproductions from the electronic thesis. A short description of these removed items must be appended to this form.
3.	The University has the non-exclusive right to publish the full electronic thesis in open access. Full attribution will given to the author.
4.	Students with specific reasons to restrict access to their thesis may discuss this with their supervisor who may recommend to their Faculty Board that access be restricted to a maximum of five years. If granted, the Faculty Board is requested to send a letter to the Libraries authorizing this restriction. When an application for restricted access to is being considered, the thesis will be restricted from access temporarily until a decision has been made of the application. If the student's request is denied, the electronic thesis will be made available online in open access.
